As you wrap up your time at Duke and prepare for the next stage of your life and career, here are some simple steps to keep your connection to Duke strong and to take advantage of all the resources the university offers its alumni.

Go to DukeAlumni.com
- Get your Duke Alumni Card. bit.ly/dukealumnicard
- Claim your lifetime Duke alumni email address.
  bit.ly/dukealumniemail
- Check out all the benefits of being a Duke alum.
  bit.ly/dukealumnibenefits
- Sign up for the Duke Alumni Network (coming in late 2015).

Stay in Touch
- Update your contact information in the alumni directory. We need to know where our alumni are for accreditation purposes. It also gets you invitations to Duke events in your area.
  dukealumni.com/directory
- Share your professional news with us.
  gradschool.duke.edu/submit-alumni-news
- Keep up with news at The Graduate School on Facebook: facebook.com/DukeGradSchool
  LinkedIn: bit.ly/dukegradlinkedin
  Twitter: twitter.com/DukeGradSchool
  Tumblr: dukegradalumni.tumblr.com

Network
- If you are moving to a new city, look for a Duke Regional Network to find Duke alumni and events in that area.
  dukealumni.com/alumni-communities/regional-programs
- Sign up for DukeConnect and find mentors in your area.
  dukeconnect.com
- Come back and catch up at The Graduate School’s reception during Duke’s Homecoming weekend in October! Visit gradschool.duke.edu in the fall for details.

Use Duke’s Career Resources
- Even after you graduate from Duke, you can continue to use its Career Center.
  studentaffairs.duke.edu/career/alumni
- Email gradprofdev@duke.edu about attending events in The Graduate School’s Professional Development Series.
  gradschool.duke.edu/pds

Find this list and more alumni resources online at gradschool.duke.edu/alumni.